INARA works with children from conflict areas who have suffered physical and mental harm and supports them through three pillars.

INARA fully covers and finances beneficiaries' medical treatment, giving them free of charge healthcare until they are fully healed. Simultaneously, INARA provides case management services and pairs each beneficiary with a case manager who oversees their treatment and provides a support system for the child and family.

INARA also provides in-house mental health services to help children cope and process their trauma.

Additionally, we respond to crises and emergencies in our areas of operation through a flexible Rapid Response Program (RRP), which enables us to redirect a portion of funding and resources to respond as needed. It was used in response to the COVID19- pandemic, the Beirut Blast and the war in Ukraine.

Through these three pillars INARA provides a holistic approach in care for the beneficiaries and their families.
